A History We Need to Know

Larry McDermott is a member of Shabot Obaadjiwan First Nation. An Ontario municipal politician for 28 years, he currently serves on the Canadian Commission for the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization's Sectorial Commission for Natural, Social and Human Sciences and is a member of the Ontario Human Rights Commission. Larry is Executive Director of Plenty Canada, an indigenous non-profit organization devoted to environmental protection, sustainable development and healthy communities.

KAIROS: Canadian Ecumenical Justice Initiatives will facilitate the Blanket Exercise. An enormously popular and successful teaching tool that engages participants in the historic relationship between Europeans and the Indigenous nations, and in the colonization of the land we now call Canada. It helps us to learn the Indigenous rights history we have never been taught.

Our vision is for an inclusive gathering that will bring together young and old, Indigenous and non-Indigenous, church and secular in a shared journey of listening, learning and reconciliation.
